

HEALTH and POPULATION DYNAMICS

Alexandra Garita

What we need Post 2015

- Build on accelerating progress of unfinished health MDGs
- Address neglected matters in the MDGs such as gender equality, girls' education, health equity and human rights throughout
- Provide access to quality health services by achieving equity through increasing access of disadvantaged groups: women, adolescents, indigenous people, migrants, people living with HIV, AND by focusing on their differentiated health needs.
- To Strengthen health systems that provide quality health services
- Include analysis of population dynamics: age distribution, urbanisation, migration, in health planning

Post 2015:

A Holistic Health Goal based on

- The concept of wellbeing and not merely absence of death and disease
- The right to health, equity, gender equality and non-discrimination
- The principle of equity and commitment to reducing inequalities (socioeconomic, gender, age, ability)

Goal: maximize healthy lives

TARGETS

1. Achieve universal, comprehensive, integrated and quality health services through primary health care, including information on sexual and reproductive health, access to contraceptives, maternity care, safe abortion services, and services that aim at preventing STI's, HIV/AIDS and non-communicable diseases that affect women, such as breast and cervical cancers.

Targets: explicitly aimed at reducing inequities

2. Remove laws that criminalize girls and women for accessing sexual and reproductive health care (abortion, emergency contraception, HIV services)
3. Ensure universal health coverage and free access at the point of care, as well as information and prevention of non-communicable diseases (tobacco and alcohol abuse, obesity and physical inactivity) and attention to mental health
4. Improve social and environmental determinants of health

Foster the enabling economic environment

- Global Macroeconomic reforms are necessary for creating fiscal space for means of implementation
  - Transformation of trade and financial rules
  - Increasing tax revenues through innovative financial taxation mechanisms
  - Removal of tax havens and elimination of tax evasion
  - Reform of the international financial institutions
