1. Framework of the United Nations Major Group for Children and Youth

1.1. Description

(a) The United Nations Major Group for Children and Youth [hereinafter “UN MGCY”] is the UN General Assembly-mandated official, formal and self-organised space for children and youth (aged 0-30) to contribute to and engage in certain intergovernmental and allied policy processes at the UN.

1.2. Mission

(a) The UN MGCY acts as a bridge between children and youth and the UN system in order to ensure that their right to meaningful participation is realised.

(b) Its primary purpose is engaging communities of young people, in the form of formal and informal child-led, youth-led, and child-and-youth-serving public interest federations, unions, organisations, platforms, associations, councils, networks, movements, mechanisms, structures and other entities [hereinafter “entities”], as well as their members and individuals, in the design, implementation, monitoring, follow-up and review of sustainable development policies at all levels. To achieve this, it facilitates and conducts a number of online and offline activities in the following areas: Policy & Advocacy, Capacity Building, Youth Action and Knowledge. These are elaborated in further detail in Section 2.1 below.

1.3. Mandate and History

(a) The first United Nations Conference on Environment and Development in 1992, “The Earth Summit”, recognised that achieving sustainable development would require the active participation of all sectors of society and all types of people. As such its outcome, Agenda 21, formalised nine sectors and rightsholder groups of society as the main channels through which broad participation would be facilitated in UN activities related to sustainable development. These are officially called "major groups" and have since been expanded and referenced in over a dozen UN General Assembly resolutions as “Major Groups and other Stakeholders” [hereinafter “MGoS”]. The UN MGCY receives its mandate from these resolutions, bilateral agreements and/or terms of references with specific UN entities.

1.4. Vision

(a) The UN MGCY strives for a world where young people and all rightsholders in all their diversity have a seat at the decision making table, and are equal partners in the design, implementation, monitoring and follow-up and review of all policies at all levels.

1 A/RES/68/288, A/RES/67/290, A/69/L.43, A/RES/70/1,
(b) It seeks to build a political landscape based on the collective principles of solidarity, justice, equity, inclusion, human rights, and the integrity of the planet. A resilient world where all life can thrive, and the human rights of people regardless of region, geography, gender, sex, socioeconomic status, faith, religion, culture, ethnicity, creed, (dis)ability, sexuality, marginalised grouping, legal status and any other status, both in present and future generations are achieved within planetary boundaries.

(c) The UN MGCY, as a key rightsholder constituency in the work of the UN, seeks to galvanise young people everywhere to realise this vision and its collective purpose.

(d) It stands for the idea that places where power and influence are most concentrated must recognise and operationalise the importance of child-led, youth-led and child-and/or-youth-serving entities, as well as their members and individuals, in promoting and protecting the priorities and rights of young people, other marginalised groups, and the wellbeing of the planet.

(e) The UN MGCY strives to ensure diversity and inclusion of all children and youth, taking into account (among other things) region, geography, gender identity, sex, socioeconomic status, faith, religion, culture, ethnicity, creed, (dis)ability, sexuality, marginalised grouping, legal status, and any other status.

1.5. Guiding Values

(a) The UN MGCY strives to exercise the following values in its work ethic:

- Participatory and consultative;
- Mission-driven and professional;
- Innovative, synthesizing old and new
- Context conscious;
- Independent of external control and voluntary in nature;
- Egalitarian, equitable, respectful, and inclusive;
- Anti-oppression principles and practice;
- Consensus based decision making;
- Accountable, transparent, and open; and
- Evidence-informed and knowledge-inclusive.

These include, but are not limited to: intergovernmental deliberations (negotiations, reviews and reporting), substantive deliberations, briefings, special fora, UN reports and UN system-wide policy.

(b) Advise entities in the UN system's engagement and thematic architecture across the scope of their activities on policy and substantive matters related to youth priorities and processes of meaningful engagement.

2.1.4. Knowledge

The UN MGCY seeks to:

(a) Provide young people a platform for dialogue to create an evidence base for best practices in design, implementation, monitoring, follow-up and review of sustainable development frameworks and affiliated processes. This includes the assessment of existing knowledge, the generation of new knowledge, the identification of emerging issues and effective use and dissemination of knowledge to inform policy processes. It should include inputs from formal, informal, traditional and indigenous knowledge streams.

(b) Training of young people on the practical skills of participation at the UN and other spaces for policy making.

(iv) Establish new or close old organisational structures and decide upon the avenues in which the UN MGCY engages.

(d) The tasks of the annual GA are detailed in the annex.

4.1.2. Children Youth International as well as the CYI Board of Trustees;

(a) “Children and Youth International” is the legal and financial entity of the UN MGCY and supports functioning of the secretariat.

(b) The CYI Board of Trustees is comprised of five to seven (5-7) individuals elected by the Assembly to oversee CYI and assist in key functions of the UN MGCY. The CYI Board of Trustees includes ex officio non voting slots for the members of the OP team.

4.1.3. Secretariat

(a) The Secretariat is responsible for overall facilitation of the UN MGCY. It is comprised of the Organising Partners [hereinafter “OP(s)’] and the administrative team of the UN MGCY, and its work includes, but is not limited to:

(i) Organising Partners:
   ■ Policy coherence (values of UN MGCY, means of implementation, principles of meaningful and rights-based institutional engagement, youth issues, established policy positions and more);
   ■ Oversight of Working Groups and Administrative Team
   ■ Engagement with DESA/DSD and MGoS HLPF Coordination Mechanism;
   ■ Liaising with IANYD.

(ii) Administrative Team:
   ■ General administration and coordination, including finance and communications.

(b) Further details of task and governance are elaborated in the the ToRs included in the annex.

4.1.4. Working Groups

(a) This is the structure that directly facilitates formal participation in respective UN processes along the UN MGCY’s areas of work.
(b) Each UN process or cluster of UN processes has a corresponding working group.

4.1.5. Cross-Cutting Platforms

(a) This is the structure that supports working groups’ “knowledge”-related activities and members who are interested in the respective topics. It is aimed at strengthening coherence of policy within the UN MGCY and is facilitated by one or two coordinators. Establishment of such platforms, along with its mandate and scope of activities are defined by respective ToRs adopted by the Assembly.

(b) Existing platforms:

(i) Children: This is the structure coordinating policy in the interests of children and engaging children in UN processes. It is facilitated by a Children's Platform Focal Point.

(ii) Science-Policy Interface Platform (SPI): This platform enhances the evidence-base within each working group to inform policy design, implementation, follow-up and review through the analysis, assessment, generation, dissemination and effective use of knowledge from both formal and informal sources.

4.1.6. Grievance Redressal Mechanism

(a) All members of the UN MGCY are encouraged to address and solve disputes within the context of the working group or other UN MGCY bodies in which the dispute arises. If doing so presents any hardship, members can request the invocation and assistance of the Grievance Redressal Mechanism.

(b) The request occurs when the aggrieved member or members of the UN MGCY make a formal complaint within the scope of the UN MGCY’s work and engagement in writing by email to the CYI Board of Trustees. The board, after due consideration of the complaint, can either accept, deny, or ask for more information regarding the issue at hand. If the complaint is denied, an explanation must be provided in writing. If the complaint is accepted, the Grievance Redressal Mechanism is officially invoked.

(c) When invoked, the mechanism results in the formulation of an ad hoc body convened by the board (excluding any board members that may be a party to the dispute), created in light of the dispute at hand and should contain at least three (3) people from within the organisational structure of the UN MGCY. If necessary, additional members not party to the dispute can be appointed by CYI as needed to address the dispute.

(d) The ad hoc body is mandated to take up the dispute, hear the grievances presented, and formulate a means by which to address the problems at hand. The ad hoc body should speak directly to the parties involved in the dispute and any other persons with relevant information. Moreover, the ad hoc body can organise a hearing with all parties involved in the dispute. Hearings are closed to all other members of the UN MGCY, whether mandated or ordinary, so as to protect the privacy of the aggrieved member(s) and the accused, as well as to preserve the integrity of the work of the ad hoc body.

(e) The decision of the ad hoc body is binding on the parties to the dispute. The Secretariat is tasked with enforcing this decision. If the parties to the dispute ignore the decision of the ad hoc body, then further measures can be taken by the Secretariat in order to resolve the dispute. At each stage of the ad hoc body’s work, the CYI Board of Trustees will play an oversight role so as to ensure the fair and timely execution of the ad hoc body’s mandate.

(f) The mandate of the ad hoc body ends once it has made its decision, and all the information pertaining to the matter has been recorded and documented. Decisions should be reached within three (3) months. If this is not possible, the CYI Board of Trustees can elect to extend the mandate of the ad hoc body on a month to month basis. If the ad hoc body is unable to fulfill its mandate, the Board may rescind the mandate of the ad hoc body and appoint a new one.

(g) Follow-up ad hoc bodies can be established if further investigation or a new decision is needed using the above process.

4.1.7. Advisory Group

(a) This body solely has an institutional advisory role and will provide support when needed. Members of the advisory group provide working advice to the working and coordination structures of the UN MGCY based on their experience and knowledge. They have no secretarial, coordination or advocacy roles.

(b) Members of the Advisory Group should have contacts and relationships that would be helpful to the UN MGCY and CYI.

(c) The members of the Advisory Group are suggested by the CYI Board of Trustees in consultation with the UN MGCY Coordination Team, and can be of any age. Members serve for two (2) years.

(d) Three (3) months before the end of a member’s term, the CYI Board of Trustee Boards and the UN MGCY Coordination Team will start the consultation process to appoint a new member. Potential members may be nominated by the Assembly and/or the OP team. Nominees must be ratified by the Assembly to join the group. To avoid the institutional discontinuity, the terms of group members should be staggered.

(ii) Send monthly newsletter updates to the Assembly, DESA-DSD, IANYD, and all other UN and/or external partners;
(iii) Coordinate the exchange of information between UN agencies and GFPs whenever they are not directly contacted by the UN via their official UN MGCY email addresses; and

(b) Working Groups and Cross Cutting Platforms

(i) Attend the monthly Assembly call;

(ii) Send updates to the Assembly whenever they attend an official conference or event;

(iii) Send monthly newsletter updates to the Assembly; and

(iv) Consult the Secretariat whenever their specific expertise is needed.

6.2. External Communications

The UN MGCY is supposed to conduct active outreach and support organisations themselves to do outreach.

(a) Social Media and Press

(i) The UN MGCY Social Media account and Press Contacts are coordinated by the Administration team and the Organising Partners. Any message that is posted should relate to agreed UN MGCY positions and statements.

(b) Contacts from outside of the UN MGCY

(i) All contact should go to either all OPs, the relevant GFP or cross-cutting platform focal point. In the case of the latter, the OPs are cc’ed;

(ii) No individuals should be contacted. All exchange should go through op@childrenyouth.org, the relevant GFP’s, or cross-cutting Platform focal point’s official UN MGCY email address

7. Decision Making Processes

7.1. Policy

(a) The UN MGCY only takes specific policy positions where there is general consensus among its membership. Where this cannot be achieved, the UN MGCY should facilitate a dialogue and only if agreement can be reached take a policy position.
(b) The UN MGCY deliberates via the respective mailing list of each working group or Cross-Cutting Platform. Updates from each working group are shared in the UN MGCY Assembly and any decision on policy is communicated to the Assembly. The Assembly may discuss issues on policy where it feels that there is overlap and/or conflict to ensure that there is coherence in the UN MGCY.

(c) The process to create policy may vary from each Working Group, but must follow the following general rules:

(i) A request for submissions is sent out, giving adequate time for everyone to contribute.
(ii) A Working Group call decides on a drafting group which should be diverse in the Working Group’s members.
(iii) The drafting group takes the submissions and any relevant previous policy and drafts the policy in an open online document (such as google docs)
(iv) The draft is sent around to the mailing list for comments and suggestions.
(v) The drafting group incorporates comments and suggestions and finalises the draft.
(vi) The final version is sent around for red flags. Red flags should be only used by members if they cannot live with the policy and are only valid if the members: 1) indicate what exactly they are objecting to and 2) offer alternative wording and 3) provide contact details for the drafting group to contact them.
(vii) The drafting group meets to resolve any red flags in consultation with the red flag raiser.
(viii) Any unresolved red flags mean that the particular section must be removed from a policy or statement of the UN MGCY.
(ix) GFPs are responsible for uploading policies to the official website of UN MGCY website under the respective process.

7.2. Statements

(a) Statements are drafted by Working Group members and those selected to speak. They must take agreed UN MGCY policy and reflect the relevant elements of that policy in any statement. Where there is no policy agreed or overall consensus of the UN MGCY then any statement must make this clear.

(b) Statements must be written down in an open Google document and circulated in good time to the relevant Working Group and allow red flags to be raised where a statement does not follow policy. It is the Organising Partner, GFPs, or acting Organising Partners’ (if neither Organising Partner or GFP is present) role to ensure that statements are coherent with the UN MGCY and that speakers stick to the statement that is agreed.
7.3. Selecting Speakers and Funded Slots

(a) Interested people nominate themselves who then go through ad-hoc, peer selected elections team using GFPs relevant expertise in the process of the UN MGCY. If anyone from the ad-hoc elections team or GFPs or relevant experts nominate themselves or have someone nominated from their organisations they must step back from that decision.

(b) Interested people should include the following information:

(i) Formal communication by the nominating entity
   - Name of Entity
   - Work and focus area of entity
   - Website (if any)

(ii) Personal Information
   - Name
   - Age
   - Date of Birth
   - Country of Citizenship
   - Country of Residence
   - Address
   - Gender
   - Sex

(iii) Substantive Information
   - Motivation for applying
   - Brief history of engagement in the UN MGCY
   - Brief history of understanding of sustainable development
   - Details of engagement with the UN
   - Relevant experience related to position
   - Bio
   - Plans during the meeting
   - Motivation
   - Plans for follow up

(iv) Contact Information
   - Email Id
   - Phone Number
   - Skype Id
   - Social Media

(c) The coordination team and the relevant working group and/or cross-cutting platform, in addition to volunteers to the process will make the selection. A person cannot join the specific selection meeting if they are the speaker or from the speaker’s organisation.
(d) Every individual who receives any funding on account of UN MGCY is obliged to write a report on the meeting they received the funding for and share it with the UN MGCY Assembly.

7.4. Online

Most decisions are made online to ensure that the wider group is involved:

(a) All decisions that need to be made throughout the year and updates will be sent to the UN MGCY through the relevant mailing list by the Global Focal Points or Organising Partners including both the decision, as well as the timeframe;

(b) A draft proposal will be sent to the relevant mailing list and open for comments for at least 2 weeks, if not otherwise decided. All UN MGCY participants have the opportunity to raise major concerns that they have pertaining to the decisions, with the Deputy Organising Partner;

(c) A second draft of the proposal will be circulated taking into account the previously raised concerns, for at least one week. If none of the participants have ongoing/additional concerns, the proposal is adopted;

(d) Shorter deadlines for a decision can be arranged based on the requirements of significant external time pressure.

7.5. During relevant UN Meetings and Events

(a) The meeting is called by the OPs or the GFPs;

(b) Any member of the UN MGCY may propose a point of the agenda at least 30 minutes in advance of the session;

(c) The UN MGCY decides with consensus, using the principles as mentioned in Section 2;

(d) Any decision that is made through consensus should be implemented by the participants of the UN MGCY in a unified manner, with all participants committed fully to the decision that was made;

(e) In the rare situations/occasions where inclusive consultation does not result in consensus, the GFPs shall take it to a vote which requiring two-thirds majority decision. Where this cannot be reached no position or statement shall be made;

(f) Decisions shall be made regarding activity and processes relevant to the event itself, however more strategic decisions with far-reaching consequences may be formulated at the High-Level Political Forum and shall be decided online;

(g) If no current GFPs can be present, acting OPs are appointed for that session by the current GFPs. Organising Partners must be involved in decisions with consequences beyond the session.
7.6. Amending the Process and Procedures Document

The Process and Procedures Document can be amended through a deliberate process, using the following steps:

(a) During an Assembly Call or in an email to the OPs, an issue is raised by the assembly with a particular section of the Process and Procedures Document and referred to the OPs to review the concern;

(b) OPs will reach out to the person raising the issue to collect their views and outline a timeline for addressing the issues;

(c) If it is a matter that is unaddressed within the current P&P and a change or addition is required, then the OPs can take this forward by either suggesting the change to the whole UNMGCY based on opens consultation and wider submissions or by establishing an ad-hoc task force to come up with coherent proposal of changes;

(d) This process, including suggestions of amendments to the whole UN MGCY should take place within 2 weeks after the call or the submission of the issue, otherwise the OPs should set a clear deadline to allow more time for discussion;

(e) If no consensus is reached and further discussion is needed, the issue with the proposed changes should be presented to the Assembly;

(f) If the issue is resolved by an Assembly call and there is no red flag, the suggestion can be adopted;

(g) If there is an objection to adoption at the Assembly call then it can be adopted by consensus.

Policy & Advocacy

- Facilitate the collective and meaningful participation of young people in official and formal avenues [of the primary process and 2030 Agenda related avenue where relevant] of policy design, implementation, monitoring, follow-up, and review at all levels. These include, but are not limited to, intergovernmental deliberations - negotiations, reviews and reporting, substantive deliberations, briefings, special fora, UN reports, and UN system wide policy;

- Advise entities in the UN system’s engagement and thematic architecture across the scope of their activities on policy and substantive matters related to youth priorities and processes of meaningful engagement;

- Facilitate the participation of young people in existing stakeholder structures, partnerships, platforms, and mechanisms in the UN system and build interlinkages among key stakeholders active in the work of relevant processes.
Capacity Building

The UN MGCY seeks to:

- Facilitate capacity building processes and activities for young people aimed at enhancing understanding, knowledge and skills in relation to sustainable development, meaningful engagement, the UN system and its various technical and political processes and organs.

Knowledge

The UN MGCY seeks to:

- Provide young people a platform for dialogue to create an evidence base for best practices in implementation, monitoring, follow-up, and review of sustainable development frameworks and affiliated processes. This includes the assessment of existing knowledge, generating new knowledge, identification of emerging issues, and effective use of knowledge to inform policy processes. It should include inputs from various knowledge streams - formal, informal, traditional, and indigenous.

Youth Action

The UN MGCY seeks to:

- Provide young people with a platform that encourages them to lead, join, showcase, and share innovative and effective actions aimed at addressing the needs of people and planet. UN MGCY’s vision.

• Facilitating the preparation of formal inputs (statements, papers, reports, etc) related to their respective process and engagement avenues in coordination with the working group coordination team, the working group, the UN MGCY coordination team and the assembly, and where appropriate, with other stakeholders, as per the process and procedures document;

• Resolve any issues with redflags and prevent an input from being submitted or read if it is red-flagged and no agreement can be found;
